Sunday's Television Broadcast Features BYU Sociology Dept.

Discovery," the Brigham Young University television program presented every Sunday at 1 p.m. on KSL-TV, will be presented this week by the sociology department.

According to Dr. Lamar T. Peay, narrator, the program will depict the dramatic case story of a delinquent career. The show begins with a boy, years of age, being sentenced to the penitentiary. In an attempt to discover the cause of being sentenced, the program will be devoted to explaining his history.

The boy's father and mother brought into the picture in an attempt to discover what part they played in his becoming delinquent.

The direction of Mrs. Gerri Glover, will portray the different emotional experiences of the boy.

The program will include Monroe Paxman, juvenile guide in Provo, as the judge. Dr. and Mrs. Wilfred Smith will play the parts of the parents, and Dee Horsley will portray the sentenced boy.

Ed. Inst. Applications Out

Elementary teaching majors expecting to take Education Instruction 115, 118 or 119 spring quarter must apply now.

Application blanks for course 115 may be picked up in 111 McKay Building. Blanks for application to 118 and 119 may be picked up in 201 McKay.

'Arabian Nights' Junior Prom Begins Tonight, Starring Jerry Gray Band

by Roger Larson
Daily Universe Writer

SCHEHERAZADE, the 1957 junior prom begins Friday night with Jerry Gray's band presiding.

Vocalist Linda Lee will appear with the 14-piece Gray band.

The theme, Scheherazade, is named after Queen Scheherazade, author of the 1001 stories comprising the "Tales of the Arabian Nights."

Decorations will follow the theme of the mysterious Arabian culture related by Scheherazade's tales.

THE EAST GYM of Smith

All Junior Prom tickets have been sold, it was announced late Thursday by Lynn Hemenway, ticket chairman.

He said that no tickets will be sold at the door either night of the Prom. 1700 had been set as the goal for ticket sales.

Fieldhouse will be decorated to represent the splendor of an Arabian palace. Featured will be a paper city covering one wall of the gym.

Jerry Gray, one-time Glen Miller arranger, is famous for his arrangements of "A String of Pearls," "American Patrol" and "Pennsylvania 6500," and for his brand of danceable music.

Refreshments will be served on the main basketball floor of Smith Fieldhouse which will be decorated on the same theme as the main dance floor.

THE DAMONS Quartet, all former Brigham Young University students now entertaining professionals, will perform during the refreshment periods.

According to Roger Victor, prom chairman, couples must bring the refreshment stub connected to their prom ticket when they go for refreshments. Due to the large number to be served, refreshment stubs will not be honored for any other time than the time printed on the stub.

Victor also reminds students that corsages will not be permitted on the dance floor.

Patrons for the promenade are Mr. and Mrs. Don Snow, Dr. and Mrs. Israel Heaton, Mr. and Mrs. Alma Heaton, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hartvigsen, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Beckham and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Sandgren.

Minister Reports 'Useful' Progress In Disarm Meets

by Joseph H. Singer
WASHINGTON — MS — British Minister of State Allan Noble reported Thursday that Anglo-American disarmament discussions have "made useful progress."

Noble, who heads a top-level delegation, made the statement after a 90-minute discussion with U. S. officials on Britain's request for American nuclear warheads to use in its defenses.

Harold E. Stassen, President Eisenhower's disarmament adviser, said after the meeting that "this was not a decision reaching session." Instead, he explained, it was an exchange of views.

Stassen said the conference was part of the preparation for the United Nations disarmament subcommittee meeting which will take place this spring.

He said the U. S. will confer later with France and Canada on the Western proposals for arms reduction and control.

Cougar Week Activities Include Special Events

Activities celebrating Cougar Fight Week, Monday to Friday will include three special events.

Wednesday's and Thursday's matinee dances will be dedicated to promoting school tradition. A special program will be presented at halftime at the Saturday basketball game against University of Utah.

Following the game there will be a victory dance honoring the Cougar song.

6 Finalists Announced For Banyan Ball Queen

Six finalists for queen of the Banyan Ball have been selected.

They are Becky Campbell, Phoenix, Ariz.; Diane Stevenson, Los Angeles; Myrtle Redmon, Nomanah, Tex.; Elaine Gordon, Tooele; Arlene Arlt, Franklin Village, Mich.; and Clare Schroeter, Chicago.

The six finalists were chosen from a group of fifteen at a reception in the Smith Family Living Center Saturday afternoon by five judges: Dr. Gaylon Caldwell, Dr. Norman Gulbrandsen, Lynn McKinlay, Marilyn Wood, and Helen Keith.

The fifteen were chosen from an original 52 entries.

The queen and her two attendants, who will be chosen by a prominent celebrity, will be announced at the annual Banyan Ball, Feb. 8.

She will be selected by a nationally-known artist-illustrator, according to John Marlow, Banyan editor.

Pictures of the finalists have been sent to the illustrator for judging, Marlow said.

The judges name is expected to be disclosed Monday.

Dean Of Education To Attend Confab

Dean Asahel D. Woodruff of the College of Education will attend the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education convention. The convention will be held next month in Chicago.

AACTE is a department of the National Education Association. A voluntary organization, it prepares people to enter the teaching profession.

Convention goers will study progress and problems in recruiting and preparing teachers for the nation's schools. Theme for the meetings will be, "An Educated People Moves Freedom Forward."

Sunday School Changes

Junior Sunday School in the 16th ward of Brigham Young University Stake will meet from 10:45-11:30 a. m. Sunday to accommodate Fast Sunday schedules.

Officers of the Sunday School have requested that parents pick up children promptly at 11:30 a. m.

The junior Sunday school is operated in the McKay Building weekly to accommodate the entire BYU Stake.

Atomic Power Plant Predicted For Utah In Distant Future

"By 1975, 25 percent of all public power utility plants will be using nuclear energy to produce electricity predicted R. W. Moody, systems engineer, for the Utah Power and Light Company.

In a talk Wednesday evening before the Electrical Engineering Society of Brigham Young University, Moody said, "a new stage of engineering endeavor is opening in the nuclear field." He pointed out that many privately owned power companies are now studying the aspects of nuclear energy as a source for producing electricity.

"The Utah Power and Light Company will build an atomic power plant sometime in the distant future," he said.

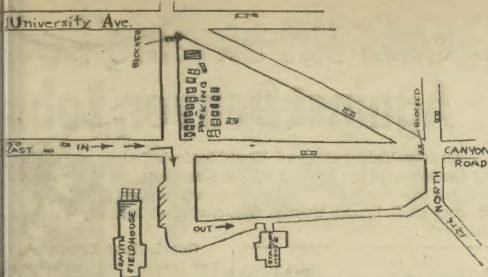

Moody went on to explain that atomic energy is a good source for electrical power, but at the present it is too expensive to use in privately owned companies.

We still have to rely upon coal as the main source of energy for many years to come," Moody said. He pointed out that Utah is in a very fortunate situation to have a large supply of coal in the Carbon County area.

Moody told the engineering students some of the problems in connection with the generation and transmission of electricity in public power plants. He showed how specific problems were solved by engineers.

By the explanation of these problems, Moody pointed out how engineering students can better qualify themselves in their field.

"Engineers need to gain a good knowledge of engineering principles, but they must also have a working knowledge of business, finance, and social problems," Moody concluded.

Prior Prom Parking Plan Explained

Prior Prof traffic before each dance will proceed north on East Street to the Smith house. All other approaches will be closed. Drivers will park cars for the duration of this service. Parking ushers will be handled differently than was announced in Wednesday's Universe.

Beachcomber's Life Looks Invitingly 'Fed Up' Hubby

LOS ANGELES — INS — A do-do Californian turned back on civilization — in his wife — Thursday and for the South Sea Islands — he up what he hopes will be an idyllic life as a beachcomber. The modern day Robinson Crusoe is Herbert Kurtz, former forest ranger in Plumas County, Northern California, now simply a man disillusioned by traffic noises, automobile commercials and crowded cities — and wanting to get away from it all. Kurtz told newsmen as he emerged from Los Angeles harbor on the freighter Waitomo: "I'm sick of this creeping civilization. Why, campsites which required a 20-mile ride on back now are crowded with trailers, picnic lunches and daily-inspected restrooms. The man in the gray flannel suit is for the birds. I'd rather be a beachcomber." Kurtz said he will go to New Zealand and then Tahiti and then set sail for "the only place on earth an outdoor man can find a little elbow room." He said he will sail in an outrigger canoe he built in the basement of his Sacramento, Calif. home and shipped to Tahiti. He navigated the canoe some 600 miles south of Tahiti and picked a likely island for his do-nounced in Wednesday's Universe. Keys will not be left in cars in the parking lot as previously explained because of the chance of theft. Instead, the ushers will maintain a keyboard in the Smith Fieldhouse lobby. After the dance, car owners may claim their keys by presenting their stubs at the keyboard. Upon request, ushers will pick up cars from the parking lot and drive them to the Smith Fieldhouse.

Ticket numbers of cars approaching the Smith Fieldhouse after the dance will be called over a loudspeaker in the building. Owners can then step outside and claim their cars.

Benefits Available For AF Reservists

New veterans survivor benefits available to Air Force Reservists, should be investigated immediately, states M/Sgt. C. S. Claybrook NCOIC 9424 Air Force Reserve Squadron Headquarters, Provo.

All veterans of the Air Force attending school should contact the Air Force Reserve Squadron at 173 North 1st West or at FR 3-4250 to determine their status.

Genealogy Workshop Set For Saturday Morning

Brigham Young University Stake genealogy workshop has announced it will meet Saturday.

Classes will be conducted from 9-11 a. m. in North Building, rooms 149, 148, 1455 and 144.

A special class will meet at 8 a. m. in 148 North Building for students planning to go to Salt Lake Genealogical Library Saturday.

The workshop plans to meet weekly on Saturdays to help BYU Stake members with genealogy problems, according to Louis Launzter, stake general committeeman.

More Than Meets The Eye . . .

Extent Of Library Facilities Shown

by Vicki Soha
Daily Universe Writer

"THERE IS more to the Brigham Young University library system than most students realize," said Miss Naoma Rich, Grant Library director.

The Heber J. Grant Library, which was completed in 1925, houses the university's main collection of books. This collection includes 225,000 bound volumes, several thousand pamphlets, and many titles on microfilm and microcard.

Professional journals, and other periodicals, as well as local, regional, and national newspapers are also available.

THE GRANT Library is divided into many convenient departments. The circulation department with a complete card file is located on the second floor lobby.

The information center, or reference room is located in 165 Grant Library. Microfilm of old newspapers and out-of-date books are also kept here.

Competent librarians are always on duty to help students locate material, Miss Rich said.

THE MORMON Americana, material on the Mormons, Utah and western history, is kept in the special collection room in room 150. This material consists of old books, articles and pamphlets.

The acquisition department selects and orders all new library material.

New library material is organized for use at catalog classifying department.

BECAUSE OF crowded conditions several years ago, the physical science, engineering, and photography books were moved into a science library at the Eyring Science Center. A map room is also located there.

Elementary school books for children in the first through sixth grades are located in 225 Training Building on lower campus. Some professional books are also available for prospective teachers.

THE SECONDARY school library in 260 Education Building contains books written on the junior and senior high school level. Brigham Young University High School students also have access to these books.

The reserve division of the library has been moved from the main library to rooms 212 and 213 McKay Building. On reserve in this room are the required, special reading assignments.

Room 3216, Smith Family Living Center houses the phonograph record library. The classical and semi-classical records are used for music labs or just for listening enjoyment. The phonograph records do not circulate, but they may be used in this room Monday through Saturday.

'Experimental' Prisoner Drama Effective In Euphonic Beauty

by David Wilkinson
Universe Drama Critic

ALREADY this quarter, Brigham Young University theater patrons have been treated to three diversified productions, none of which could be termed conventional.

If this is not variety enough, certainly next week's morality play and a "fireside theatre" presentation in the near future should please those grown weary of conventional drama. If this is but a taste of things to come, hasten the day when our thespians can experiment in their own home without competition from music rooms below.

FOR "EXPERIMENT" was the key word in Dr. Harold I. Hansen's latest production of a play that is admirably suited for experiment, Christopher Fry's "A Sleep of Prisoners." The drama currently playing in College Hall is a work commissioned for the religious "Festival of Britain" and centers on four soldiers imprisoned within a "looming" church.

The small opening-night audience was well aware that an experiment was being staged but was not always aware of what Fry was saying. Fry's Biblical symbolism is too involved, his thought and language too compressed to be easily grasped. But the total effect is thrilling, even if it is not always easily understood.

THE PLAY'S effectiveness is due in large part to its euphonic beauty. The dramatic situation is both intensified and relieved by slashes of sheer poetry.

The four-man cast carried on the search for purpose in a war-torn world with real sensitivity. The characters were well delineated—which made the plot more clear.

Gary Stewart is excellent in a characterization role, and Charles Whitman gives a powerful performance as Cain, King David, and Abraham in the dream sequences.

NEAL BARTH is outstanding as father Adam in the first sequence and otherwise is wholly consistent, as is Grant DeBry, who disconcerts his companions with his indifferent attitude to war.

The simple "cube set" was in keeping with the experimental theme, and lights flashed from all angles in several scenes to dramatize the nervous tension in a church prison.

CatMaulers Face Utags In Rematch

COACH ALLAN Davis reports that his Brigham Young University wrestlers are anxious to avenge a 27-3 shellacking at the hands of Utah State when the two intra-state rivals meet in a return match Saturday night in the Smith Fieldhouse.

The Cougars have a 2-1 record with wins over Utah, 17-9, and Western State of Colorado, 17-14.

USAC is the conference leader in the Western Division, having whipped Utah in all but two weight divisions.

Aggie Coach George Nelson reports that he has one of the strongest wrestling teams in his 30 years of coaching at Utah State.

In the Logan dual meet, heavyweight Dave Hanks was the only Cougar to register a win. Davis hopes his team will make a better showing against the Farmers as two of his key men failed to make their weight divisions in Logan and should be ready by Saturday.

THE COUGARS grapplers are made up entirely of juniors and sophomores and were relegated to an "also ran" position in pre-season speculation.

However, the BYU matmen have improved steadily, and should they manage to get by the tough Aggies, they would be in an excellent position to make a strong bid for the conference crown.

THE COUGARS lost 10 of their first 11 matches, but rebounded solidly winning 10 out of their next 13 bouts.

Getting into the win column for the first time against Utah last Saturday was 123-pound Wesley Packer, 130-pound Rodger Overson and 137-pound Milton Moore.

Other BYU matmen who will probably see action against the Loganeers are Wally Baker or Wesley Wilcox, 147; Lerol Davies, 157; Ted Willich, 167; Paul Eckel or Merrill Glenn, 177; and Dave Hanks, heavyweight.

On Feb. 9 the Brighams travel to Bozeman, Mont., for a triple meet with Montana State and Adams State of Alamosa, Colo.

Backboard Jungle Competition Hot

Taking the spotlight in intramural competition is a "Backboard Jungle" of 96 basketball teams vying for top honors in their respective leagues.

From the apparent confusion of the mad maze of over 1,000 players, 25 teams have emerged as league leaders.

Tied for first place in the Carrill Ina League are Eightballs, Athenians A, Brigadiers, and Skaggs Drags. In the National League, First, Sixth and Eleventh Wards are tied for top spot.

Four teams head the American League: Fifth Ward A, Sixth Ward B, Seventh Ward A, and 15th Ward.

The Atlantic League leaders are D-4, Royal Hawaiians and Canadian Club B. The Red Devils, Troops and Vandals are out front in the Eastern League. Western League: Canadian Club A and Forkers. Ivy League: Gone Johns B, Spartans and Bombers. Northern League: Garfield Club and D-5.

Cats Hit Skyline Road Against Denver, Lobos

Denver University and New Mexico's Lobos, currently occupying the lower rungs of the Skyline standings, get their chance to climb this weekend with home games against the league-leader Cougars of Brigham Young, Saturday and Monday evenings, respectively.

Announcer Files Suit Against Pro Grid Team

WASHINGTON, (MS)—Sports-caster Harry Wismer filed a half-million dollar damage suit Thursday against Washington Redskins' majority stockholders George Preston Marshall and Milton King alleging "mismanagement" of the pro football club's funds.

Wismer, who holds 25 per cent of the Redskins' issued stock while Marshall and King own the remainder, not only seeks to recover an undetermined sum he charges was "misspent" but also is asking $500,000 damages in behalf of the corporation.

THE sportscaster, who resigned as director and vice president of the Redskins last fall, said in his suit in Washington's federal district court that since 1950 when he became associated with the club he has not received a financial statement or been permitted to examine the books despite "repeated demands."

Coach Hoyt Brawnner's Denver crew has undergone thorough revolution of standing assignments in preparation for the Cougars. With their new "tall man" line the Pioneers swamped Colorado College 95-60 in a display of their new-found might last weekend.

New Mexico's Lobos aren't the big bad wolf variety year, but are approaching an unusual confidence their Monday meeting with the high-rising Cats.

Perhaps "Zorros" should the NMU nickname this year. In what may be a big Cat to the Lobos begged postponement of this game from its previous set date of Saturday. Real players are undergoing tests, doubt the classroom variety meant, but New Mexico terms may be of the double and shooting variety.
